

Do You Need to Locate a Specific Journal?

It is easy to find a specific journal title from the Richland College Library Web site. You have access to thousands of journals via the Library's subscriptions to electronic databases. From the comfort of your office (on campus or at home) you can find a specific journal with just a few clicks of the mouse. Start at our Web site: <http://www.richlandcollege.edu/library>.

The screenshot shows the Richland College Library website. On the left is a purple sidebar with navigation links: Library, Find, Resources for You, Research Assistance, Help, About the Library, and Bookmarks. The main content area has a grey header with 'Contact Us' information. Below that are four boxes: 'Books & Videos', 'Electronic Resources', 'NoodleTools', 'For Students', 'For Faculty/Staff', 'Research Assistance', and 'About the Library'. A red callout box with a white background and a red border points to the 'Electronic Resources' link. The callout text reads: 'Step 1 Click on this link to see which journal titles are available in our databases.'

- A Strategic Approach to Climate. By: Porter, Michael E.; Reinhardt, Forest L. Harvard Business Review, Oct2007, Vol. 85 Issue 10, p22-26, 3p, 1 illustration; Abstract: The article discusses strategic planning for operational effectiveness and the reduction of climate-related risks, in light of the expected impact of climate change and regulation of greenhouse gas emissions on corporations. The basic approach should be based on an evaluation of a company's vulnerability to environmental and economic shocks, such as disruptions in the value chain or infrastructure and climate-related costs. Maintaining competitive advantage will require best practices to avoid wasting resources and prevent the added costs of inefficiency. Some risks can be reduced by redesigning operations and through insurance or hedging contracts.; (AN 26554521)
