School Highlights

Overview

Richland was established in 1972 and is one of seven colleges in the Dallas County Community College District.

Richland helps students build their futures through courses that can be applied to the first two years of a bachelor's degree, one- or two-year certificates in a number of career fields, and training in the latest technology for students who want to advance in their current careers.

Accreditation /Recognition

The president of the United States and the secretary of commerce named Richland as 2005 recipient of the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, the only community college to have received this award.

The governor of Texas and Quality Texas named Richland a 2005 recipient of the Texas Award for Performance Excellence.

Richland is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS).

Richland is one of the top five degree-transfer institutions in the state of Texas.

Academics

Richland offers classes to fit students' busy schedules—days, nights, weekends, and online.

Richland has several transfer agreements with four-year universities including the University of North Texas, the University of Texas at Dallas, the University of Texas at Arlington, Texas Woman's University, and Texas A&M. University at Commerce.
